POLO YOUTH IS HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

LITTLE WHITE LIE CAUSE OF BOY'S DEATH

Wrote Final Letter Of Affection To Sweet-heart

Chicago, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A "little white lie" from the lips of a pretty dark-haired 16-year-old high school girl was blamed today for the death of a young military academy student.

Police quoted the girl, Lorraine Harynek, as saying in a signed statement that she had told Warren S. Stanley, 17-year-old son of a wealthy cosmetics manufacturer, she was to become a mother; when actually, she said, "it wasn't true at all."

The cadet, with a bullet wound in the head, was found early Sunday in a wrecked automobile which police said had been stolen. A pistol was clutched in one hand. He had been a student at the Missouri Military Academy at Mexico, Mo.

In later interviews Miss Harynek said first that she and young Stanley were married last November in South Haven, Mich., and later that they procured a marriage license "either at South Bend, Ind., or South Haven, Mich., I don't remember which. I don't know whether we were ever married or not."

State Policemen Walter Healy and William Hogan said Stanley's car led them in an 80-mile-an-hour chase, skidded on the icy pavement in suburban Berwyn and crashed into a tree. Healy asserted he heard a pistol report and found the youth slumped over the steering wheel.

In his pocket police found a note addressed to Miss Harynek, who said their romance dated back to grammar school. The misadventure to his love for her.

"Wasn't True At All" "I have known Warren for 10 years," the girl said. "I told him I was to become a mother. It wasn't true at all. Warren always wanted to have a baby, so I told him to make him feel happy."

The youth was a son of Sinclair G. Stanley, owner of a cosmetics company, and Mrs. Estelle Stanley. The parents were divorced last September.

Police said the youth took an automobile belonging to Dr. R. S. Williams, a Mexico physician, Saturday night and started for Chicago.

The Illinois policemen pursued the car for nine miles after it raced past them at a speed of 80 miles an hour. Several shots failed to check the youth's wild flight.

The note found in young Stanley's pocket read in part: "I love you, I love you. I can't stand the strain of being a"

Bullitt Visit To Warsaw Lacks Any Official Motive

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Hull said today he had received a cabled denial from William C. Bullitt, American Ambassador to France, that the latter's visit to Warsaw, Poland, had any official significance.

Newspaper reports last week said Bullitt had been instructed to visit Warsaw to warn the Polish government against joining Germany, Italy and Japan in their anti-Communist alliance.

These reports were denied by the state department which said that Bullitt's trip was wholly personal and social, after senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Lewis (D-Ill) demanded on the Senate floor that the state department investigate the matter.

Lee Co. Only Half Way to Quota In Annual Roll Call of Red Cross

Unprecedented demands have been made upon the Red Cross along many fronts during the past year. Seldom, if ever, have the Red Cross had a more thrilling story to place before the public than it has for this annual Roll Call. The pictures printed in the Dixon Telegraph Saturday, depicted some of the outstanding emergencies which the Red Cross in different localities served so efficiently. The Red Cross has been extolled prominently in the radio broadcasts, newspaper stories and moving pictures throughout the past fiscal twelve months, therefore it seems superfluous to enumerate the many humanitarian efforts and results this organization has accomplished to Dixon citizens. Although the response to the American Red Cross Roll Call has been encouraging, Thanksgiving Day officially ends the Roll Call. The local chapter wants Dixon and Lee county to meet its quota—to date, the roll call has reached the half way mark, so all who wish to contribute to this worthwhile organization are urged to send in their membership fee to Cal G. Tyler, chairman, or bring it to the Red Cross headquarters, at the Dixon Chamber of Commerce office, as soon as possible.

New Manager

Frederick Broughton, with a background of ten years experience with the Dixon Home Telephone Co., succeeding A. R. Patterson, who assumed the position temporarily when Louis Pitcher became executive vice president of the International Independent Telephone Assn., May 1.

Mr. Broughton will not bring his wife and baby son to Dixon from Chicago to reside until after the holidays. Mr. Patterson, who has made many friends here during his incumbency, will return to Streator, where he has resided most of his life and has personal interests.

THOMAS LYONS DIES AS RESULT OF AUTO CRASH

Prominent Amboyite Dies In Hospital Here Last Night

Thomas J. Lyons, prominent resident of Amboy and life long resident of Lee county, passed away at 8:45 Sunday evening at the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital, his death resulting from injuries sustained in an automobile crash in Amboy Wednesday night of last week. Mr. Lyons was a former member of the Amboy city council and at one time served as chairman of the Lee county democratic central committee.

Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, coroner, conducted an inquest at the Jones funeral home this morning at 10:30, the jury's verdict finding that death was due to shock and heart failure resulting from injuries sustained in the crash. Coroner Segner went to Amboy this morning where he obtained a statement from L. E. Etnyre, Dixon grocer, who figured in the crash last Wednesday evening about 11:30 on U. S. route 52 in Amboy.

Attempts to Avoid Crash The statement of Mr. Etnyre indicated that he was driving north on Mason street in Amboy, returning to Dixon and at the Burlington crossing, observed the Lyons car approaching from the north at a high rate of speed, and coming directly toward him. In an effort to avoid a crash, Etnyre attempted to turn to the left side of the street and the cars crashed almost head-on.

Dr. W. T. Holliday of Amboy testified as to Mr. Lyons' injuries, having been summoned to the scene of the collision by Ivan Whitver, also of Amboy. The latter stated that he was seated in his home reading, when he heard the screech of brakes being applied, and looking out the window observed the crash. He proceeded to summon assistance and removed the wrecked cars from the center of the street, he stated.

Born September, 1868 Mr. Lyons was born in Marion township in September, 1868 and had been a life long resident of Lee county. He is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Elizabeth Bromley and Miss Sarah Lyons, and one nephew, Sergeant Lawrence Lyons of the Chicago police department. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Patrick's Catholic church in Amboy, Rev. Fr. Robert Troy officiating and interment will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. The remains will be at the Jones funeral home in this city until before the hour of the funeral.

HELD FOR POSTAL THEFTS

HIKER CALLED TO STAND IN PASTOR CASE

Testimony Strengthens Minister's Assertion of Captivity

Pittsfield, Ill., Nov. 22.—(AP)—His testimony unshaken by cross-examination, the Rev. C. E. Newton gave way on the witness stand today to a hitch-hiker whose description of a lonely roadside scene tended to corroborate the minister's assertion he was held prisoner while other persons hammered Mrs. Dennis Kelly to death.

Forbes Clack, a railroad laborer, testified he saw two men and two women beside two cars parked early on the morning of July 13 on a highway near the point Newton fixed as the scene of the murder of the 45-year-old mother.

One of the women screamed, Clack related, but he thought it was a drunken party and went on. The minister, who had told of stopping on the highway with Mrs. Kelly, declared on cross-examination he could identify only his foster-daughter, Myra Hanan, as being an occupant of an automobile which drew up alongside. He said he heard other "voices" but he did not state specifically how many persons were present.

Mourns Mother

Keokuk, Ia., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Myra Hanan, implicated by her foster father, the Rev. C. E. Newton of Paris, Mo., in the murder of Mrs. Maybelle Kelly at his trial in Pittsfield, Ill., faces the accusation still mourning the death of her real mother, Mrs. Vitura Hanan, who died at the Oakdale, Ia., sanatorium on Nov. 12.

Miss Hanan, whose brothers and sisters were reared here, attended the funeral held on Nov. 14 in a Keokuk church. Noel and Forrest Newton, sons of the Missouri Baptist minister, were pallbearers.

school teacher while helping her desert her husband, was slow and deliberate in answering the questions of State's Attorney Merrill H. Johnston. He seemed very tired.

"Did you recognize anyone you saw the night Mrs. Kelly was killed?" Johnston demanded in an aggressive tone.

"I recognized only Myra Hanan," Newton replied.

Then, answering three successive questions curtly, he said he did not and could not identify the person or persons he had testified were the companions of his 37-year-old foster-daughter.

Step by step, the states' attorney took the minister over the story he had related in direct examination yesterday. He gave long detailed explanations, and once Circuit Judge A. Clay Williams instructed him to shorten his answers.

Johnston, recalling the minister's purported confession to the slaying, asked him how he had known a hammer was used to kill Mrs. Kelly. He replied he had heard Miss Hanan discuss a hammer.

Retells His Story The 51-year-old minister retold his story of coming for Mrs. Kelly the night of last July 12 to aid her in leaving her husband, a rural mail carrier, at Paris, Mo. He denied, with a dry chuckle, that he

State Investigator of Opinion Fire Here Early Sunday Morn Incendiary

Thinks Kerosene Was Ignited Outside Wedlake Home

Arthur Sagona of Rockford, investigator from the state fire marshal's office at Springfield, in Dixon today investigating a fire at the Mrs. Marie Wedlake home, 311 East First street, early Sunday morning, announced his belief that the blaze was of incendiary origin. From appearances, they thought kerosene had been poured on the outside of the building and the flames had found their way between the walls, causing only slight damage.

Members of the family were awakened about 4:20 Sunday morning by smoke and fumes which filled the house, and turned in a fire alarm. The blaze was extinguished with only minor damage which was said to be covered by insurance.

Chief Cramer and members of the local arson squad, who were called to investigate, were of the opinion that kerosene had been used to start the fire from the outside of the structure. After making the investigation, Chief Cramer summoned the state investigator.

Two Minor Fires

Saturday evening at 6:15 the department was summoned to a residence property owned by H. C. Warner at Bradshaw street and Brinton avenue, where slight damage resulted from a roof fire.

Sunday afternoon at 2:15, the community truck was called to the J. C. Eathing home in Gal Grove where a minor roof fire was extinguished with slight damage to the property.

Report Three Minor Accidents in City

Theodore Dockery reported to the police at 11:45 Sunday night that his car was considerably damaged when struck by a machine driven by Ed Brauer of Palmyra township, the accident taking place on the Peoria avenue bridge.

Richard Jessie, city reporter, reported to the police at 9:45 Saturday night that his car was struck by a machine bearing license plates issued to Harold Young of this city on Seventh street and Hennepin avenue.

At 8:55 this morning a car bearing license plates said to have been issued to W. W. Teschenorff, which was being driven east in Commercial alley, collided with a machine in which Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller of this city were driving south on Galena avenue. The side of the Miller car was damaged.

Labor Relations Board Wins Point Against Bus Line

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The labor relations board won a Supreme Court review today in its effort to enforce an order directing the Pacific Greyhound Lines, Inc., to withdraw all recognition from a labor organization it was alleged to have formed and dominated.

A review recently was granted of similar litigation involving the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc. The labor board lost both cases in lower courts.

In the Pacific Greyhound dispute the board appealed from a decision by the ninth circuit court of appeals that the Wagner labor relations act did not authorize such action.

No written opinions were delivered at today's brief session before the court adjourned until December 6.

The justices denied a second motion of Robert Gray Taylor of Media, Pa., for permission to file a brief questioning the right of Justice Hugo L. Black to sit on the bench.

WINTER'S BLAST

The first icy breath of the coming winter benumbed northern Illinois and Dixon over the weekend, the government thermometer here slumping to seven degrees above zero Saturday night and to 10 degrees above last night. Rock river was reported frozen from bank to bank in the vicinity of the cement plant and above, and was freezing rapidly in the expanse just above the I. N. U. Co. dam today.

Brockelhurst Appeal Decision Expected In Court Next Week

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Arkansas supreme court today took under submission for probable decision next Monday the appeal of Lester Brockelhurst, 23-year-old former Galesburg, Ill., Sunday school teacher, from a death sentence conviction for the hitch-hike slaying of Victor A. Gates, Little Rock planter, May 6.

The so-called "crime tourist" was convicted June 24, at nearby Lonoke. Another jury acquitted his 18-year-old sweetheart, Bernice Felton, Rockford, Ill., also tried for the Gates' slaying. Defense attorneys today attacked Arkansas' constitutional amendment providing for trial by information without grand jury indictment. The supreme court has upheld such procedure.

Northern Indiana Resorts Raided To Stop Immorality

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Simultaneous raids on five northern Indiana resorts, described by state police as a beginning of policy of the department to suppress all "questionable places" in rural sections of the state, left 27 persons in custody today on morals charges.

The raids started late Saturday night and lasted until the early morning hours of Sunday.

Officers said the raids grew out of federal investigation of suspected white slavery and income tax violations.

Can't Keep Up

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Vice President Garner wanted to argue on his birthday anniversary today that he was 68 years old and not 69.

It was not until he was shown a copy of the "Biographical Directory of the American Congress" proving he was born on Nov. 22, 1868, that he admitted he was wrong.

"By golly," he said, "I can't keep up with those things. Don't I have enough on my hands as it is?"

JAPAN "ADVISES" CHIANG-KAI-SHEK TO ABANDON WAR

Threatens Foreign Settlement With Force Of Arms

BY JAMES A. MILLS

Shanghai, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Japan urged Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today to surrender. A message dropped to him by Japanese airmen making their first flight over Nanking since the government announced its transfer from the capital to Chungking, about 1,000 miles farther inland.

No bombs were dropped — only the message urging cessation of hostilities.

Chinese pursuit planes attacked the Japanese fliers, nevertheless, engaging them in spectacular dog-fights over Nanking. One Chinese plane crashed.

New Chinese Planes

With 50 new fighting craft known to have been flown to China's interior from Russia, it was believed this was the debut of reinforcements for China's shattered air forces.

The mysterious message "advised" Chiang to end China's resistance and to surrender himself to the Japanese.

Japanese reported capture today of Wushih, one of the last strongholds of China's Nanking defenses.

Japanese land and air forces began a concerted drive against the entrenched Chinese on a line north from Wushih to Kiangyang, on the Yangtze river.

Dispatches from Peiping said Japanese forces in north China were preparing to cross the Yellow river at several points to attack Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, the only north China capital still unconquered by the Japanese.

Force was threatened to back Japan's strong demands for virtually complete control of Shanghai, including Chinese courts, maritime customs, mails and telegraphs. Japanese warned officials of the International Settlement and the French concession Japan might use her armed strength if her demands were not met.

Insurance Company Loses Suit Against Illinois Central

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Aetna Insurance company lost in the Supreme Court today its effort to recover the value of a registered mail package containing $21,947 stolen from the United States mails while in custody of the Illinois Central Railroad company.

Saying there was no federal question involved, the tribunal dismissed an appeal by the insurance company from an adverse ruling by the Illinois Supreme court.

In 1929 the money was sent from the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago to the Franklin County Coal company of Royaltown, Ill., for its payroll. A mile from its destination the money was stolen from a baggage car. The insurance company paid the full amount to the bank.

In its suit to recover from the railroad, the insurance company contended it had been "careless and negligent."

Arguments were heard by the Supreme Court on November 18, but it stopped them after listening to counsel for the insurance company.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT IS NOW IN COURT

LaVelle Shank Held for Death of Russell Shrader

LaVelle Frederick Shank, 20, of Polo, was held to the January term of the Lee county grand jury by Justice J. O. Shaulls today on recommendation of a coroner's jury Sunday morning, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, the recommendation following a verdict drafted by the jury, which conducted an inquiry into the death of Russell Shrader, 26, of Polo, who met almost instant death about 11 o'clock Saturday night about one and one-quarter miles north of Dixon on U. S. route No. 52, at the Plum Hollow golf course. In default of $5,000 bond he was sent to the Lee county jail.

Shank, the driver of a Ford coach, his uncle, Lewis Shank, a cousin, Melvin Shank, and Shrader, were enroute from Polo to LaSalle, the testimony indicated, when the car left the paving and plunged along a ditch on the left side of the road for a distance of about 250 feet.

Shrader apparently was thrown from his seat in the rear of the coach through the door on the driver's side, sustaining injuries to the head and chest which physicians said were of such severity as to cause his death. He had expired when the body was placed in another car which rushed him to the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital in this city where three physicians examined the body. His companions were uninjured except for minor cuts and a general shaking up.

Coroner Investigated

Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, Lee county coroner, went to the hospital where he was informed that a death had occurred at the scene of the wreck, and started an investigation which a short time later resulted in police taking LaVelle Shank and his uncle Lewis Shank to Lee city hall jail where they were held until the inquest, which was conducted at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the Preston funeral home. State's Attorney Edw. Jones interrogated the witnesses, who gave their versions of the accident and the condition of the driver of the car.

Three physicians, Dr. W. T. Holladay of Amboy, Dr. Edward S. Murphy of Dixon and Dr. L. R. McDaniel of Polo, Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber of Dixon and Night Marshall Joseph Powell of Polo, testified before the inquest that, in their opinion, LaVelle Shank was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

The Polo youth testified that he was in Dixon Saturday afternoon and obtained a shave and a shoe shine at a barber shop, then proceeded to a local tavern where he purchased "five or six shots" of whiskey, which number he later placed to five. He then went with his uncle to Polo where later in the evening he drank a large glass of beer at a tavern in that city, he said.

Shank testified at the inquest that he was enroute to LaSalle and left Polo about 10:15 Saturday night and that as he made the curve near the Plum Hollow golf club the wheels on the right side of the car left the paving. In attempting to regain the paving the car swerved to the opposite side of the road and landed in the ditch, he stated. He sustained a cut on the back of the right hand and minor body bruises.

Fatality Unaccounted For

Neither of the three Shanks was able to tell the jury how Shrader was thrown from the car or account for his fatal injuries.

Melvin Shank, 25, employed by the I. N. U. Co. at Polo, testified that while he was seated with Shrader in the back seat of the car, that he could not account for the manner in which he was thrown clear of the machine when it careened across the road. He added that after crawling out of the wrecked machine he saw Shrader lying on his back about 40 feet from where the car had stopped.

Lewis Shank, 46, was not certain about the accident, and told the jury that he had not been drinking very much, and rode in the front seat with LaVelle. He recalled, however, having warned the driver not to drive at too high rate of speed after leaving Polo.

State Highway Officer Edward Mahan, who with Officer Rex Flach was informed of the fatality about 11:30, testified that they had made a careful examination of the course taken by the Shank car after leaving Polo. In one instance,

Windsor's Libel Suit Settled Lord Justice Announces

London, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Settlement of the Duke of Windsor's libel suit against the publishers and author of "Coronation Commentary" for a "substantial sum" in damages and costs was announced today before Lord Justice Hewart.

Sir William Jowitt, appearing for Windsor, announced that William Heinemann, Ltd., the publishers, and Geoffrey Dennis, author, would pay the "substantial sum."

He added that Windsor would contribute the damages to charities in which Edward, as King and Prince of Wales, had taken "a deep interest."

(The book was withdrawn from sale and a letter of apology written after a protest by the duke last April. It dealt with the coronation and the duke's accession to the throne and referred to what it termed "muddling, fuddling and meddling" during his reign.)

from Wall Street. You wouldn't believe he was more than 45 if he didn't put his birth-date in the Congressional Directory—as 1867. That makes him 70.

Quietest member of the chamber is veteran George Norris of Nebraska, who crosses the Democratic side, pulls a chair close to the speaker, cocks his head on one side, and listens carefully to every word.

Hand of Garner

The militant censure of "the growing concentration of economic control" in the president's message to congress was the handwork of Vice President Garner.

The grizzled Texan returned to the capital all hopped up over the menace of Wall Street, went immediately to the White House and had a 45-minute talk with Roosevelt. Garner told him that monopolistic interests were annihilating small business men and that the government had to take drastic measures to halt them.

Garner owns two small banks, knows intimately the problems of the "little fellow," has been their consistent spokesman in congress for 35 years. This economic tie explains why he broke with Roosevelt on the labor issue last session, why he is now incensed about Wall Street.

Garner also told the president that the undistributed profits tax must be modified to relieve small business, but that he was all for the tax bearing down on big business.

Roosevelt not only welcomed the counsel, but went it one better.

"Why not reshuffle the tax," he suggested, "so that it will enable small business men to compete better against the big fellow?"

"Now you are talking, Mr. President," beamed Garner.

Three days later, Roosevelt put this up to congress. If you look up his speech you will note he supported Garner's idea almost word for word.

Covert Spankings

Two other portions of the same message had more behind them than appeared on the surface.

First was the paragraph defending the need of a federal board to administer the proposed wage-hour law. This was a slap at the A. F. of L. and its spokesman, Senator George Berry, who want the bill enforced locally. Roosevelt contends local authorities are too susceptible to local politics.

Second covert shot was in the paragraph denouncing the "unsound practice of some communities" of enticing industries from other sections by special inducements. This was aimed at the recently organized Southeastern Governors Conference—including North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Mississippi. The conference is vigorously anti-wage-hour bill.

Part of this poke was also aimed at "Chirp" Robert, behind-the-scenes promoter of the conference, and secretary of the Democratic National Committee.

Roosevelt feels that Robert is using his party position to build up southern industry by offering inducements which smack of the sweat-shop.

Smoking Senator

Senators who want to hold the senate floor and smoke a cigar at the same time should take a lesson from Tom Connally of Texas.

It is against senate rules to smoke in the chamber. Also it is against the rules to leave the chamber when you have the floor. But Tom Connally, who was conducting a filibuster against the anti-lynching bill, had sent a copy of the Congressional Record to the clerk, who was reading it.

Technically Connally had the floor. But if he left the chamber he would lose it. This made it hard for Tom, because he wanted a smoke mighty bad.

So he put one foot outside the door, ducked his head outside long enough to light a cigar. Then keeping one foot in the senate and one foot outside, he blew the smoke out into the corridor.

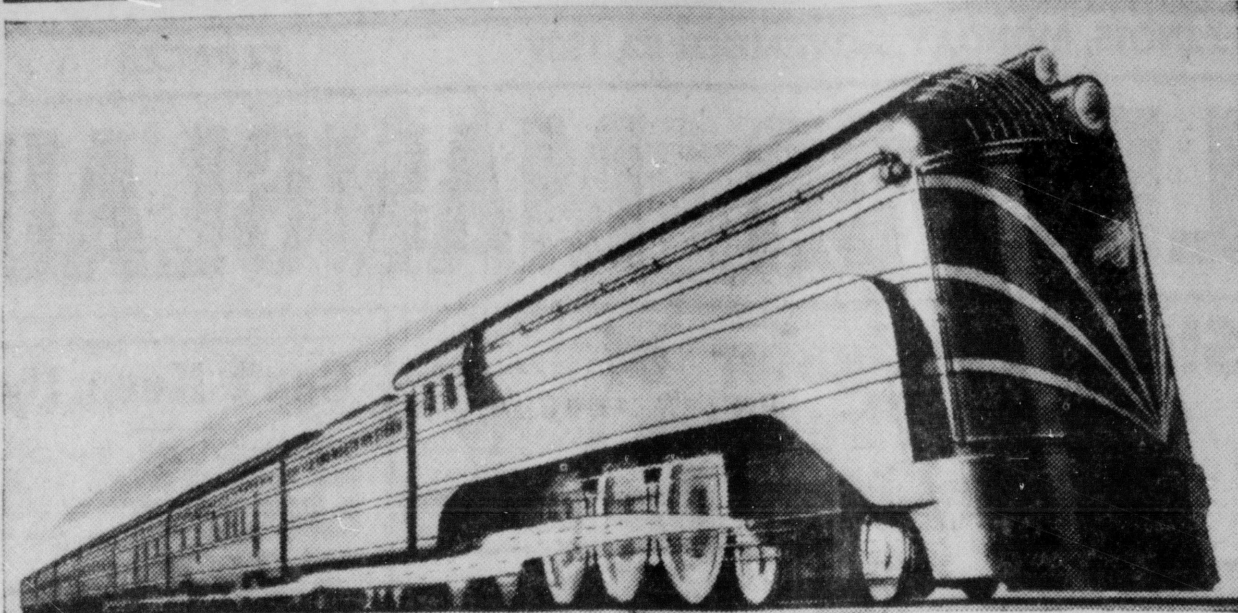

Thus, Tom Connally, the smoker, was in the cloak room, while Tom Connally, the speaker, was on the floor of the senate.

New Rail Giants for Chicago & North Western Railway

Above is an artist's conception of the new Chicago & North Western Railway's streamlined locomotives, which are to be delivered for service early in 1938.

The Chicago & North Western Railway announces that delivery on its new streamlined Class E-4 locomotives will be made in January of 1938. They are now in the process of assembly in the shops of the American Locomotive Company and when completed will be the most powerful 4-6-4 passenger locomotives yet built.

In addition to their power, these locomotives will embody the latest in streamline design, combining utility with beauty of line. Streamlining is effected through the use of a covering of 1/8 inch lightweight steel. It will be Pullman green, with a decorative band of gold, the ensemble being simple, but strikingly effective.

Present plans contemplate the operation of the new locomotives on passenger runs between Chicago and Omaha.

The new streamlined locomotives are capable of speeds up to 120 miles an hour and will haul 15 passenger cars with ease at 80 miles an hour. The total weight of the locomotive is 775,000 pounds, or 387 1/2 tons. The engine weight is 415,000 pounds and the tender 360,000 pounds. The tender will have a capacity of 25,000 gallons of water and 25 tons of coal. The latter to be stoker fed into the firebox.

Drive wheels will be 7 feet high. Tractive power will be 55,200 pounds, and the locomotives will be capable of generating 3,450 horsepower at 50 miles an hour.

The boiler diameter is 94 inches and the fire grate area 91 square feet. Length of the new locomotive is 101 feet 9 1/4 inches; height, 16 feet and width 10 feet 10 inches.

Nine of these new locomotives have been ordered.

REMINISCENCES

By H. G. REMINGTON

Dixon Telegraph Staff Writer and Former London Times Military and Feature Writer

Within the last two weeks three press associations have released articles concerning Premier Mussolini's program of encouraging the Catholic missions in Ethiopia. All of these articles left the impression that Catholic missions in Ethiopia will be somewhat of an innovation. It is a matter of record, however, that Catholic missions for many years played an important part in Ethiopia's development. Some Ethiopian rulers embraced the Catholic faith.

It is a fact that missionaries sent to Ethiopia by Portugal almost succeeded in converting all of that country to the Catholic faith, and during their residence there Ethiopia was more in touch with the world than it had been since the Graeco-Roman days, when the countries on the Mediterranean Sea traded with the kings of Aksum, a former Ethiopian capital.

Ambassadors and patriarchs from Portugal-Alvarez, Bermudez and others—left complete and interesting accounts of their journeys in Ethiopia. The Jesuit missionaries located at Fremona, near Aduwa, the first important city taken by the Italian armies in the recent Italo-Ethiopian conflict, and there were several other important Catholic settlements. Among these was Gondar, where the Portuguese built two palaces for the Ethiopian kings. Ruins of these buildings, as well as an old stone arch bridge they built over the Blue Nile to the southeast of Lake Tsana, may be seen to this day. The bridge is still in use and is the only structure to span the Nile in Ethiopia.

Travelers between Addis Ababa and Lake Tsana now ford the stream to the northwest of the capital. It is a three-day journey by muleback from the rim of the canyon on the east bank to the rim on the west bank of the Blue Nile by this route. The lake is near the source of the Blue Nile and annually Ethiopians make pilgrimages to the actual source, a little lake several miles south of Tsana. The first European to visit Ethiopia in modern times was Pedro de Covilhã, a Portuguese traveler, who remained there from 1490 to his death. His presence in Ethiopia was the motive power which prompted Emperor David II of that country to send an embassy to the King of Portugal in 1515. The result of this was a return mission to Ethiopia, headed by Father Francesco Alvarez, in 1520. This embassy continued until 1527, and Father Alvarez' narrative of the mission is the earliest and most reliable account of Ethiopia and her people during modern times.

Father Alvarez was accompanied by his secretary and physician, John Bermudez, and one or two others, who remained in Ethiopia after the embassy terminated. In 1528 Mohammed Gran, emir of Harrar, then a Moslem country southeast of Ethiopia, mustered all the forces of Islam at his command, and attacked Ethiopia. He ravaged the country from end to end. The cathedral at Aksum was destroyed and robbed of its treasures.

The tradition of the horrors perpetrated by this Moslem chief is retained in Ethiopia today, and residents of Aksum still refer to the magnificence of their town "before the days of Gran."

At this period the Ethiopian empire was near extinction, but the Portuguese saved the day. The Ethiopian emperor sent John Bermudez on a mission to Portugal to ask for aid, and his request was granted. Pope Paul made Bermudez patriarch of Ethiopia, and he returned to that country in 1541 with full powers to do his best to restore order.

Bermudez was accompanied by Don Christoforo de Gama, in command of 450 musketeers, who rendered material service to the Ethiopians in subduing their Moslem enemy. These troops were landed at Massaua, now the principal port of the Italian colony of Eritrea, then Ethiopian territory, and they entered the fray at once. At the outset de Gama was victorious in his engagements with Gran, but he met with reverses in 1543, when he died from wounds received in battle. The tide finally turned, however, and when Mohammed Gran shortly afterward was fatally wounded by the Portuguese, the Ethiopian-Portuguese victory was complete.

Emperor Galawedew for a time appeared friendly to the Portuguese and permitted Bermudez to carry on his mission work, but he changed his attitude later and placed obstacles in the way of the missionaries. At one time Bermudez was forced to serve a term in prison. During his patriarchate, however, much progress was made and many converts were obtained.

After the defeat of Gran the Portuguese played an important part in the reconstruction of the shattered empire. It was during this period that they rebuilt the cathedral at Aksum and a fortress at Fremona, a short distance from Aduwa.

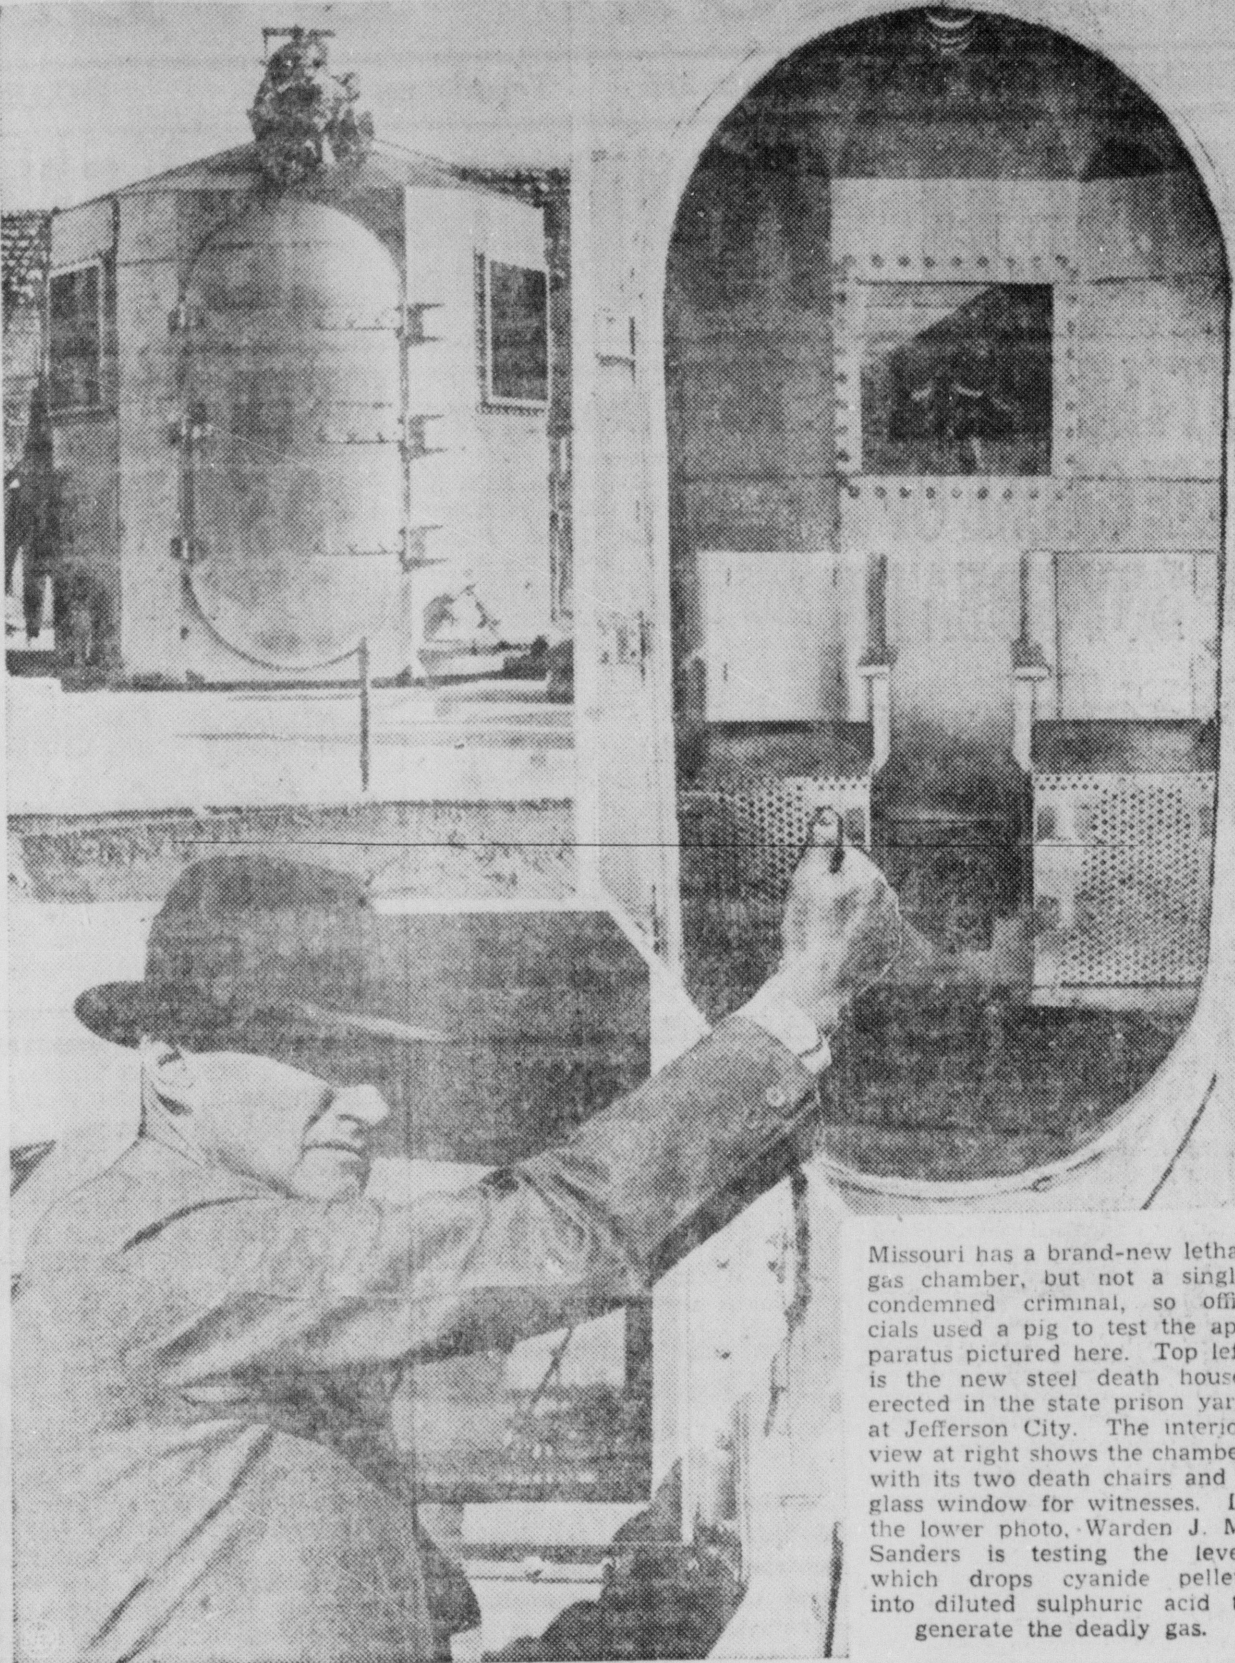

Andrea Oviedo succeeded Bermudez as patriarch, arriving in Ethiopia in 1557. Two years prior to this the king of Portugal had sent John Numez Barreto and a large number of missionaries to Ethiopia. Oviedo was well received by Emperor Galawedew, who died two years later. During the reign of his son, Wahag Sagad II, the Catholic missionaries were badly treated, and up to the time of his death in 1597 Oviedo was exiled to the mountains on three occasions.

Father Pierre Paes Castellan then was designated to become the patriarch of Ethiopia, but he was captured by the Turks while en route to that country and did not reach Ethiopia until 1603. Meanwhile the Catholics of Ethiopia had the kindly co-operation of Emperor Yakob and much progress was noted. On Father Paes' arrival he was well received by the emperor, and a year later this ruler embraced the Catholic faith. Some of the Portuguese buildings still to be seen in Ethiopia were built under the patriarch's personal direction. He taught the workmen and supervised construction.

Reconstruction of the cathedral at Aksum was completed under Father Paes' direction. This is the same cathedral which corresponded with the Italian army in north Ethiopia two years ago described in their dispatches as "a fine example of Ethiopian architecture." Malak Sagad II, who succeeded Yakob as emperor, was invested with the crown in the reconstructed cathedral. He was a warm ally of the Catholics and during his regime their influence in Ethiopia reached the highest point.

They built the town of Fremona, named after Frumentius, who, according to Ethiopian legend, introduced Christianity into the country. Letters of the missionaries of this period make no reference to Aduwa, and it is presumed that Fremona, only a mile and a half away, was the earlier of the two towns. Father Paes died in Fremona in 1622, and the emperor in

Where Missouri Will Execute Prisoners With Gas

Missouri has a brand-new lethal gas chamber, but not a single condemned criminal, so officials used a pig to test the apparatus pictured here. Top left is the new steel death house, erected in the state prison yard at Jefferson City. The interior view at right shows the chamber with its two death chairs and a glass window for witnesses. his grief threw himself on his tomb and wept bitterly.

Father Alfonso Mendez succeeded Father Paes as patriarch in 1625. He was accompanied by Father Lobo, who wrote extensively of Ethiopian affairs and customs. During this period leaders of the Ethiopian church launched a bitter attack on the Catholics and brought about a rebellion in Tigre province headed by Tekla Giorgis, the emperor's son-in-law. Emperor Sagad put down the rebellion, but he was unable to gain for his friends their former prestige, and in 1632 he abdicated. He died that same year, still maintaining to the last his belief in the Catholic faith and his love for the Jesuit missionaries.

The next emperor, Fasiladas, who was opposed to the Catholics, issued a decree expelling them from his country. Many, with a praiseworthy zeal, elected to remain at their posts, and all who did suffered martyrdom.

It was not until 1714 that Europeans again were well received in Ethiopia, and in this year Catholic missionaries established themselves at Gondar. The Ethiopian king resumed their attacks on the outside missionaries and in 1718 the latter again were expelled from the country.

It was not until the time of Emperor Menelik II, who died in 1913, that missionaries again were tolerated in Ethiopia. Two Catholic missions were permitted, and it was through the efforts of the Catholic mission at Harrar that the erstwhile emperor, Haile Selassie, was so well educated. When he came to the throne he welcomed the missions as a civilizing influence and there were several Catholic missions in Ethiopia in recent years.

At Addis Ababa the French maintained a Catholic mission which cared for orphan girls until they reached a marriageable age, when the mission undertook to find suitable husbands for their wards. Other Christian denominations also maintained missions during Haile Selassie's regime. For several years a Swedish mission operated a free school at Addis Ababa, where the children were not only educated but fed.

Under Mussolini's program the Ethiopian Christian church, still will be permitted to obtain its abouna or church head from Egypt, but it will be limited to three patriarchs. All church appointments will be subject to approval of the Italian authorities. Religious authorities will no longer be permitted to impose taxation and many of the privileges of the clergy which were foreign to religion will be stamped out.

LET'S TALK TURKEY

When you gather your family and friends about you on Thanksgiving Day, you want to serve them the best turkey dinner they have ever eaten. You will want a turkey that has been carefully raised, in clean surroundings, not allowed to range and run about and develop tough, hard muscles and tendons. You will want a turkey that is tender and that will cook very quickly. You will want, most of all, one that is juicy and rich in flavor, when it is taken from the oven.

All of these advantages you will have when you get a Reynoldswood Farm raised, mash-fed turkey. We selected a variety that would mature early, with broad meaty breasts. Then we raised them right—fed them the best food we could buy—and we will guarantee their flavor is absolutely right, this year.

Following the market trend, we have reduced our price to 32 1/2 cents a pound, dressed and delivered, up to the day before Thanksgiving.

Place your order early, so we can select a fine turkey for your special dinner.

RED GRANGE LEADS BEARS HOMECOMING

Galloping Ghost Still Subject Of Praise

By ROCKY WOLFE

The Galloping Ghost of the gridiron will lead the "Big Parade" at the first Homecoming of the Bears' football players, which will be a sideline feature of the Cleveland-Bears game at Wrigley Field Nov. 28.

Red Grange! As long as the grand game of football is played that name will epitomize all that is spectacular, all that is dramatic and all that is clean in the sport.

And his record? Someday it may be bettered, but right now nobody is even close. Grange played in 247 games (freshman at Illinois not included), carried the oval 4,013 times and gained 33,820 yards (6.4 miles), to average 8.4 yards.

These figures do not tell the complete story for Red did his share of blocking and tackling and as he laughingly remarks: "Don't forget that I was tackled, hit the ground and had to get up the majority of the times I carried the ball." That speaks durability to the nth degree.

Most Amazing Career

Grange, now a Chicago business man who politely tells his company to go to hell temporarily every fall so that he can assist George Halas with coaching his alma pappy, the Bears, can look back upon the most amazing career in modern gridiron history.

For 16 years he boldly trod the gridiron and figuratively thumbed his nose at those who sought to curb his wanton and devastating deeds, for, from the very beginning at Wheaton (Illinois) high school in 1918, a price was placed upon his auburn locks, a bounty that was never collected.

When Red entered high school, Wheaton, then a city of less than 6,000 souls, situated about 25 miles west of metropolitan Chicago, was unknown to the vast majority of millions of people in the land. By the same token Harold E. Grange simply didn't exist. Six years later any kid in any neighborhood scrub team could recite without hesitation that Red Grange was the greatest footballer that ever lived and that he came from Wheaton.

Thirty minutes after he started his first game as an end, Grange acquired the tag that was to make him a marked man throughout his playing days. His speed, courage and natural football instinct was a source of extreme annoyance to rivals of the countryside, but the next season, when he was shifted to the backfield, this annoyance rapidly changed to despair, mingled with amazement, for when he completed his prep career he had averaged six touchdowns per game!

Modest and shy, he enrolled at the University of Illinois, cherishing the secret ambition, not of becoming a varsity football player but of making the baseball team. However, it became noised about that a pledge to Zeta Psi was carrying concealed football weapons, so the Zetas began to apply the pressure. Grange's classic remark one day as he stood at a window watching a squad of a hundred men being heckled by Bob Zuppke was: "What, ME go out for the team? Why, I'd get lost in a mob like that." Historians have recorded in detail the difficulty the enemy had in trying to find the fellow who was afraid would get lost.

An insight into his character and sportsmanship was his insistence that Earl Britton, his blocking full-back, and his other mates, share equally the hysterical plaudits that poured upon his bewildered head in a succession of stunning cloud-bursts.

Continuous Praise

Since that memorable afternoon when he raced through the Michigan eleven three times to touchdowns from the kick-off to become known as the "Galloping Ghost," no man in the annals of the game has ever been forced to withstand such a continuous bombardment of praise as the Wheaton boy who aspired to be a star baseball player. Today he is still the same shy fellow.

Grange joined the Bears shortly after his final game with the Illini in 1925, and Thanksgiving Day made his debut at Wrigley field against the Cardinals before a capacity crowd of 34,000. A few days later 74,000 attended his first game in New York City—the National league record.

During his career it is conservatively estimated that 4,000,000 people saw him in action, fully double the number that ever watched any other star in the game, past or present, and he traveled 70,000 miles to do his stuff.

With the exception of the 1926-27 seasons, when he shared ownership of the New York Yankees with C. C. Pyle, Grange played every season with the Bears until his voluntary retirement at the close of the Pacific Coast tour, that follow-

Runaway Hill Cracks Paving

This six-inch crack, shown being measured by amazed young women, opened up in a paved road through Los Angeles' Elysian Park when a 2,000,000-ton hillside under it began "running away." The huge landslide, moving about an inch a day, already has crushed a big water main and threatens a nearby railroad yard near the business section. Old settlers insist it is caused by caving-in of ancient Spanish treasure tunnels.

ed the finish of the 1934 National league campaign.

Of course Red gradually succumbed to the ravages of time and slowed down but what he lost in speed he gained in experience and he became known as the greatest forward pass defense man in the circuit. His experience resulted in the championship for the Bears in 1933, when the Giants invaded Chicago for the decisive argument.

The Bears were leading, 23 to 21. New York had the ball on its 45-yard stripe. The line shifted making Hein, the center, an end and therefore eligible to receive a pass. Seconds only remained to play. Hein caught a long pass on the dead run. It was out of Grange's territory but he alone saw what was coming. He caught Hein from the rear, wrapped his arms around that player's waist and the ball and hung on. He had neglected to include the ball in his embrace, Hein would have lateraled it to a teammate who could have scored walking. Hein struggled furiously to do that very thing as Red brought him

Frank Foley, Harvard, passed to Daughters for first touchdown and scored second on 16-yard run in triumph over Yale.

Cecil Isbell, Purdue, tossed 35-yard pass for first score and tallied second touchdown against Indiana in 10-yard romp.

Dave O'Brien, Texas Christian, shot 41-yard pass to put ball on one-yard line, hit center for touchdown and kicked point to beat Rice.

Sam Chapman, California, led drive for first touchdown and scored second in victory over Stanford.

Bob Hinchman, Princeton, sparked upset win over Navy with first touchdown pass and brilliant aerials which set up second six-pointer.

Andy Stopper, Villanova, threw two touchdown passes and caught another in rout of Temple.

Whit Jaeger, Colgate, led Red Raiders' second period scoring drive and tallied game's only touchdown in defeat of Syracuse.

Charles Sweeney, Notre Dame, blocked Northwestern punt, recovered ball and raced to contest's lone touchdown, and also played brilliant defensive game at end.

Jim Miller, Ohio State, passed and ran to lead Scarlet's first touchdown drive, then scored his second on fine catch of forward pass.

Bill Patterson, Baylor, threw three touchdown passes as Bears downed Loyola of Los Angeles.

Merle Miller, Washington, ran 67 yards for one touchdown and plunged through line for another as Huskies prevailed over Oregon.

Honey Hackney, Duke, tallied two touchdowns and kicked single conversion in win over North Carolina State.

down. The game ended as they hit the turf.

An 80-Yard Run

In his final game, which also was against the Giants, in California, Red broke loose, headed for an 80-yard run and a touchdown. He raced 45 yards and thought he was free but the last tackler grabbed his heel enough to slow him so that another player could bring him down. "When I felt that hand on my foot, I knew I was through," he says. "Until then nobody had ever brought Grange down from behind!"

He recalls he was hit the hardest in college competition by Ed Weir of Nebraska. It was Grange's first game for Illinois in 1923, and on the first play he was handed the ball. Says Grange, "That Weir hit me so hard I was numb all over."

In the National league Red says that George Trafton, whose 13-year record as a center for the Bears is likely to stand for a long time, hit him the hardest. He was out on his feet for 10 minutes.

Commenting on the difference between collegiate and pro ball, Red believes it takes two seasons in the league for a rookie to really get set to do his best work. "The more you play, the more you learn, and the more you learn, the easier it is to do what is expected of you, and the pros 'tackle the ball'."

Of all his college games, he likes to recall the one against Pennsylvania in 1925, and quite naturally, for it was his first showing before an eastern crowd. He actually was on trial, for the easterners were taking his mad exploits with a couple of pinches of salt. What

Boston Bruins Get Fine Cooperation; Insures Success

By The Associated Press

The secret, if any, of the remarkable success of the Boston Bruins have been enjoying at the start of the National Hockey league season seems to be that they're hitting on all six—or all sixteen. Every man on the squad is doing his full share to continue the winning streak, which was extended to six straight games during the week end.

They conquered Toronto, 3-2 Saturday and Chicago, 2-1, Sunday.

The New York Rangers took over second place in the American division, five points behind Boston, by chalking up a victory and a tie in a double week-end bill with the Montreal Maroons. The Rangers won, 3-0, at Montreal Saturday and rallied in the closing minutes to gain a 3-3 tie Sunday.

Toronto also gained a five-point lead in the International division coming through last night with a 5-0 decision over the crippled and hapless Detroit Red Wings, the Stanley Cup champions.

THE RAILROAD CRISIS

Railroad corporations which once were so formidable that every state legislature and the congress of the United States sought popularity by assailing them with public laws, now are limping back to the people with pleas for enough revenue to live on. Everybody has taken from them, and no longer are they in position to give.

We can break a railroad just as easily as we can break an individual financially. When the treasury is empty and the outgo is more than the income, the corporation is broke. A railroad must have a balanced budget.

Without assuring the railroads of increased income, we have forced upon them a very greatly increased outgo.

The Association of American Railroads is leaving at the doors of business men some literature that is intended to be enlightening on these points. It states the case thus:

Prices of the things railroads buy have gone up approximately 40 per cent.

Taxes have increased approximately 25 per cent. Wages have risen approximately 18 percent.

Meanwhile the level of freight rates has gone down about 10 per cent and passenger fares about 18 per cent.

It is not a matter of economic wisdom that the transportation costs should be elevated further and placed farther out of adjustment with other divisions of activity—agriculture, for instance. But the railroads are in a muddle through no fault of their own, through meddling by ambitious politicians, through the whole term of McAdoo mismanagement as director under government control. McAdoo was running the railroads as a candidate for the presidency rather than as an experienced railroad manager. We never have recovered from it, and may we be saved from further catastrophe of that kind.

Yet there is only one alternative.

Either the railroads are going to be granted increased revenues and placed farther out of line with rates on waterways and highways, or they are going to have to dump their properties into the hands of the politicians in Washington—and what a country we will have then. What won't the next Mr. Farley be able to do with all the railroad workers under his thumb.

We ain't seen nothin' yet.

The Burlington railroad, one of the few midwestern systems that have been able to keep heads out of financial waters, has issued a statement on increased costs of operations:

Increased cost per annum resulting directly from operation of new laws: Unemployment compensation law, $968,847; railroad retirement tax act, $1,313,388; total, $2,282,235.

Increased cost per annum resulting from rise in prices of material other than fuel, $4,179,000; fuel $921,000; total, $5,100,000.

Increased cost per annum resulting from restoration of 10 per cent wage deduction agreed to in 1932, $4,509,305.

Increased cost per annum of labor resulting from wage agreement following mediation under the railroad labor act by the national mediation board in 1937: Non-transportation employees, $2,374,291; train and engine forces $947,966; total $3,342,257.

Total increases per annum, $15,240,827; less saving due to transfer of voluntary railroad pensions under railroad retirement act, $1,192,011.

Total net increased costs per annum, $14,048,816. That is the bill the Burlington railroad must add to the normal bill it presents to the public annually, and the entire bill, directly or indirectly, has been forced by government agencies.

Still, it is better to keep rails in hands of private corporations. When the government begins using railroads as a tax collection agency, we will pay plenty, as we are beginning to see with the dawning of the day after similar ventures.

IN EXCHANGE FOR WHAT?

Hollywood tells the world that one of the leading motion picture producers is toying with the idea of omitting the long "credit list" shown upon the screen before the action starts in the pictures. In these credit lists are given not only the names of the principal actors, but also the names of some of those who assisted technically in the production, including camera men, composers, film editors and others.

The intention to do away with this list of technicians affords the basis for some thought. There are arguments on both sides of the matter. The screen is there before us, and if the producers do not tell us who created the sound effects, who arranged the music, assembled the gags, turned on the lights, swept the floor and wound the clock, they must be showing something else, for it is considered unethical to permit the screen to go blank.

Whether we are to benefit by any plan to leave off the credit list depends upon what they flash on the screen in lieu of it. A great many things could be worse. There was some reason for showing the credit list. Perhaps the lighting effects, some day, will be so excellent that the lighting technician will assemble a following and people will go to the theater solely for the sake of his work. But before they can identify him they must know his name, obtainable from the credit list. The same might be true with regard to the art of the makeup man, the costumer and the decorator.

In some instances the credit list is a positive relief and affords a moment's rest for the weary eye, although the ear gets no respite. We have heard the movies attacked from many angles, but never because of the credit list.

F'INSTANCE . . .

BY DON DANIELSON

If there's any joke in this department this week, it is on us. In the Telegraph of Thursday as "guest picker" we put ourselves out on a limb by attempting to put a finger on the winners of Saturday's football games. It was ballyhooed about us that we had "been practicing up for weeks and reported to our trainers in the pink." As it turned out, that pink was but a foretold of a blushing red. You see, five teams came along and with sharp-toothed upsets sawed off the limb drumming us into a cactus field of a 700 average. That usually happens to people who will insist on being cocksure. However, with Thanksgiving bearing down on us, we suppose we can be grateful it wasn't worse and turn for comfort and change of subject to the hobbies of other Dixonites.

F'instance—
For many people it seems only natural to collect something. Some choose stamps, some gather coins or rare glass ware, or maybe hotel towels, but E. M. Graybill chose to assemble moths and butterflies.

We made two field trips this past week in connection with this subject; one to the collection and the other to the collector. The butterflies and moths are to be found on the mezzanine museum at the Dixon public library. As a public-minded gesture Mr. Graybill has just recently given his amazing collection to the library for all Dixon to see. In three glass-covered trays some 500 insects are expertly mounted. In one case alone there are over 200 of the winged creatures. They are exquisitely colored specimens and have been pinned on white paper background to bring out the color. With glass knobs on the trays they have been made to fit into a cabinet when not on display. The inside edges of the trays have been covered with bright wall paper. In three cigar boxes Mr. Graybill has shown how the mounting is done. A trough large enough for the bodies is through the center to protect the wings from self-inflicted damage. All this has been done in the interest of boys anxious to know the how of the work.

About the first book we remember reading all the way through was Gene Stratton Porter's "The Girl of the Limberlost" which, with its story of moth collecting, left a lasting impression on us. With this background of interest, our second trip was made to see Mr. Graybill at 310 N. Ottawa avenue.

The story back of this collection brings out its real value. The most important fact, perhaps, is that all of the 500 insects are different and were all caught within the limits of Lowell park. For 20 years Mr. Graybill assembled and mounted the creatures. During these years he lived at the park where his father was the first superintendent.

In those days there were no automobiles or buses to convey children to school and there was nothing left to do but hike. If Mr. Graybill was sometimes late to class it was because he spotted a new kind of butterfly and stopped long enough to net it. Sometimes this required hours of patient chasing. At night he set lanterns in the woods to attract the moths.

The months of May and June, he declared, are the best for catching the insects. He used an open bag-shaped net with a handle. Instead of using chloroform for killing the insects, Mr. Graybill used cyanide of potassium. A small crystal of the poison was put in a fruit jar and the gas created by oxidation filled the vessel. Insects dropped into this gas chamber would die immediately without fight. This way the delicate, fragile wings were not damaged by struggle.

Moths and butterflies, it was pointed out, often resemble each other in form and habits. One easy and distinct way to determine the identity of the insects is that butterflies rest with their wings vertical or folded, while moths rest with their wings spread horizontally.

Mr. Graybill hasn't made any comprehensive study of the different species but has merely collected as many different kinds as he could find in the park. He was rewarded to find that so many kinds exist in this locality. He points with pride to a certain delicately green colored moth with a wing spread of about six inches and a butterfly he calls "French Poodle" because of the striking markings on each wing which resemble the French dog.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. There is far more truth than poetry in this definition for two reasons, first because during a temperamental tantrum a person is almost entirely dominated by his—or her—emotions and the intelligence is well-nigh put out of business. Second, H. L. Hollingworth, psychologist, has shown that people who are temperamental and neurotic are on the average persons, of rather low intelligence. There are exceptions, but this is the rule.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. That shrewd philosopher, the late James Harvey Robinson, said to me "Wiggam, you'll never be happy until you have done two things—settled the sex question and quit expecting anything." I thoroughly agree with him. Few people can ever get to the point of not expecting anything but "Great Expectations" cause practically all disappointment, because they are so rarely fulfilled.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

I WON'T TALK!

A small-time racketeer in a big city was arrested and his alibi was:

"The West side gang kidnaped me and took me out on a farm to question me and I wasn't even in town the night you say I was in on that deal. On Friday two of them, masked and carrying guns, picked me up in a green car. They blindfolded me and after riding about an hour we stopped and went into a house and down into the basement. They removed the blindfold and questioned me for a while but I didn't know anything. They repeated the questioning at intervals, leaving me tied for hours at a time but they fed me so it didn't bother me much. Finally during one of the questionings one of them got mad and slugged me with the butt of a gun and I went out like a light. When I came to my head hurt and it was dark. The place was so quiet I could hear my watch ticking so I pounded on the wall and the two men came and got me. Without a word they marched me upstairs blindfolded again, took me out, and we started riding again. Finally they stopped and let me out right where they had picked me up. That was Sunday evening so you see I wasn't here at the time that deal came up."

The police found one error in the story and so discredited the whole thing. What was it?

DAILY HEALTH

By DR. IAGO GILDSTON
Rheumatoid Arthritis

The cause of rheumatoid arthritis, the most serious of the different types of arthritis, is not known by medicine.

The disease is three times as common among women as among men, and the age of onset may range anywhere between 20 and 60.

The disease may develop suddenly with acute pain and swelling of the joints. More commonly, however, it starts gradually. Frequently it appears in the middle joints of the fingers. Then, as the disease progresses, other joints become involved.

In addition to the pain, swelling and stiffness, the patient may suffer slight fever and may experience loss of strength, loss of weight and a feeling of chronic illness. The disease is characterized by periods of rest followed by relapses.

There is no specific treatment for rheumatoid arthritis and yet treatment which supports and corrects can yield the sufferer much benefit.

Treatment should be started as early as possible. Rest is the most important feature of treatment.

G. O. P. Democrats Unite To Battle Progressives '38

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22—(AP)—Coalition Democrats and Republicans, aided by other groups opposed to Governor Philip F. LaFollette, took definite steps today to unite followers of the old parties in a concerted drive to wrest control of the state government from the Progressive in 1938.

Making clear by resolution that they do not intend to set up a new party, approximately 100 persons met at a Madison Hotel Saturday, listened to speeches attacking Governor LaFollette as a dictator and set up an executive committee of 80 which was instructed to present a slate of coalition candidates for state offices in next year's primaries.

DUCK HUNTERS HELD ON FELONY COUNT BY GOV'T.

Caught On Game Refuge, Threatened Death To Wardens

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 22—(AP)—Four duck hunters—a father and his three sons—were held in the Peoria county jail today, charged by the government with committing a felony. Leo H. Borgelt, U. S. deputy game management agent, said other charges would be preferred at a hearing Wednesday morning.

The prisoners were Charles High, 57, and Thomas, 25; Charles, Jr., 23, and Zeal, 21, all of Havana, Ill. They were accused of hunting on the Chautauqua federal game refuge, which is protected water. Borgelt said they also would be charged with resisting an officer, shooting migratory waterfowl on a federal refuge, rallying and shooting birds on open water, all federal offenses, and shooting from a moving boat, which is prohibited by state law.

At Point of Gun

Borgelt said he and Frank S. Davis, a state deputy warden, saw the elder High and Charles and Zeal in a motorboat on the refuge late yesterday. He said their boat contained 12 ducks and several shotguns. They arrested the trio and confiscated the fowl and guns and were preparing to bring them here, Borgelt said, when Thomas High approached from the shore, aimed a .12 gauge shotgun at the officers and ordered the prisoners released. Borgelt quoted the elder High as saying, "since we have gone this far, we might as well go the rest of the way."

The Highs reentered their boat and sped away, Borgelt said. The officer notified Sheriff Carl Tripe of Mason county, who arrested the hunters at Havana a short time later.

They were returning from a hunting trip.

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, Nov. 22—(AP)—Harvard men in New York couldn't make the big game celebrated the smashing victory over Yale by hiring a band to parade in front of the Yale club playing "Our Director" and other Crimson favorites. . . . Standing in the rain on the other side of the street, the Harvard guys got a big kick out of watching the old and young Blue hurrying to close the windows. . . . Best sports cartoon of the week was Willard Mullins in the World-Telegram, showing Babe Ruth filling out an unemployment card. . . . John Montague isn't exactly in the chips right now but he turned down a check for $200 for expenses in his charity match for New York's kids.

Plenty of football upsets Saturday. . . . Colgate hickup Syracuse made this column look good. . . . But what about Texas Christian setting Rice down. . . . We picked Purdue over Indiana in the pool, but didn't have the nerve to do it in print. . . . Stanford is the team that really let us down. . . . We thought it had a real chance to upset California despite what Slip Madigan said. . . . It'll be California in the Rose Bowl and they'll pick Pitt, if Pitt disposes of Duke Saturday. . . . Somebody ought to make that "Hooks" Mylin down at Lafayette a vaudeville offer. . . . Boy, he rates it.

"Dutch" Clark, of the Detroit Lions says he always figures on three sets of guards when his team goes against Bronko Nagurski. . . . Sam Chapman doesn't get many rare notices in the papers, but coasters who know say he is the chap who really makes California's powerhouse click. . . . Rogers Hornsby will go to the Milwaukee baseball meeting looking for a manager's job in the minor leagues. . . . When Mrs. Mel Hein, wife of the star center of the New York Giants, went to a dancing academy to learn The Big Apple, she found her partner and instructor was Count Woronsoff of the South Russia Womans-offs. . . . What we'd like to see is an over-the-weight bout between Henry Armstrong and Petey Sarron.

LITTLE EIGHT PLANNING GRID FEAST, WALNUT

The Little Eight conference is planning a football banquet for the teams of the conference. This will be held at Walnut Community high school on Monday, December 6, at 6:00 P. M. Lynn O. Waldorf, football coach at Northwestern university, has been secured as the speaker for that evening.

This is the first banquet that the conference has planned but it is hoped that they will be able to make the occasion an annual event. Those in charge feel that they have been fortunate in securing a person of Mr. Waldorf's ability as the speaker. His speech will be part of a program centered around the past football season. The squads of the various schools will be present and the awards for the 1937 season will be made to Walnut, the champions, and to Manlius and Wyandot, who tied for second place.

Monday night, December 6, was chosen for the banquet so that there would be a minimum of interference with other activities. The committee is making plans for over 200 men and women. They wish it to be understood that all interested persons, men or women are invited to attend this banquet in honor of the squads of the various schools. Ticket may be secured, until Dec. 4, from the principal of any of the schools of the Little Eight conference.

Scoring Record

Waukesha, Wis., Nov. 22—(AP)—A total of 203 points in three seasons of football is the record set by Art Buck, of Elmhurst, Ill., galloping quarterback who concluded his varsity gridiron career at Carroll College last week with a 27-point contribution to the Pioneers' 39-13 victory over Wheaton.

Buck's record largely is responsible for Carroll's two years of undefeated football.

GRID WORLD HAILS THREE CHAMPIONS

Thanksgiving Day To End Campaign For Most Teams

New York, Nov. 22—(AP)—The football world saluted California, Minnesota and Dartmouth today as the country's major 1937 sectional champions and then turned to a mass of unfinished business, most of which will be disposed of in this week's double program.

Some 85,000 fans looked on at Palo Alto last week as California's Golden Bears smashed through Stanford, 13-0, captured the Pacific Coast conference crown for the first time since 1928, won the right to represent the far west in the Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena New Year's Day, and wound up a regular season marred only by a tie with Washington the 1936 titleholder.

Minnesota, beaten by Nebraska and Notre Dame in major upsets, nevertheless salvaged the Big Ten championship out of the wreckage by brushing aside Wisconsin's Badgers, 13-6, to complete an unbeaten conference campaign. Meanwhile the wah-hoo-wah Indians of Dartmouth, giving another smooth, powerful performance, trounced Columbia, 27-0, won the Ivy league title for the second year in a row and finished an undefeated season for the first time since 1925.

Unbeaten List Reduced

Yale's defeat, 13-6, at the hands of a well-drilled, effective Harvard machine, and the 6-0 beating Montana took from Idaho reduced the list of major undefeated elevens to ten. Of these the east contributors six—Lafayette, Pitt, Fordham, Villanova, Dartmouth and Holy Cross. The others are California, Colorado, Alabama and Santa Clara. Lafayette, Dartmouth and California all have completed their schedules but each of the others has one more hurdle to vault.

Outstanding features on the Thanksgiving day and Saturday programs:

Fordham's Rams, who pushed St. Mary's Gaels all over the field but scored only once in a 6-0 victory, close on Saturday against their traditional rivals, New York university.

On the same day, Holy Cross, held to a scoreless draw by Carnegie Tech last week, meets its ancient rival, Boston college, which was upset by Boston university, 13-6.

Pitt and Villanova, other members of the undefeated brigade, invade foreign soil for their wind-up games. The Panthers, who smashed through Penn State almost at will to win, 28-7, travel to Durham to play Duke's Blue Devils, 20-7 conquerors of North Carolina State on Saturday. Villanova, which ran up a 33-0 count on Temple, will close against Loyola at Los Angeles Sunday.

Most colorful of the week's engagements will find army battling Navy at Philadelphia on Saturday. Army, without using a single varsity player, overpowered St. John's of Annapolis, 47-6, but Navy was the victim of a stunning upset in the 26-6 shellacking by Princeton.

Columbia, beaten five times this season, plays Stanford in another Saturday feature.

The Thanksgiving Day program is headed by the annual battle between Penn and Cornell. Duquesne, unexpectedly beaten by Marquette, 13-6, plays Detroit, while George Washington, which held Arkansas scoreless for the first time since 1934 in a 0-0 deadlock, meets West Virginia. Catholic and South Carolina, Brown and Rutgers are other pairings.

Lafayette wound up its undefeated and untied season last week with a 6-0 conquest of Lehigh while Colgate, unbeaten by Syracuse since 1924, maintained its jinx over the Orange in a 7-0 upset.

Middlewest
The close of the Big Ten campaign leaves fans with slender fare this week. Kansas, beaten by Arizona, 9-7, but hoping for a share of the Big Six title, plays Missouri on Thanksgiving day but Nebraska will be favored to clinch the crown beyond dispute by whipping Kansas State on Saturday. Nebraska flashed a scoring punch for the first time in routing Iowa, 28-0, while Kansas State was beaten by Iowa State, 13-7.

GIANTS EXPECT TO MEET BEARS FOR PRO CROWN

Bears Donned Basketball Shoes To Win Over N. Y., 1934

Chicago, Nov. 22—(AP)—A lot of things can happen before the national pro football season ends, but it's a good bet that the New York Giants and Chicago Bears will battle it out for the 1937 championship.

The Giants and Bears last met for the title in 1934. On that occasion, the Giants won by donning basketball shoes in the second half and scampering to victory on a slippery field. Yesterday the Giants went out of their way to help Chicago get a chance for revenge by practically eliminating Green Bay from title consideration.

New York, with a 10 to 0 victory over the Packers, handed Green Bay its third defeat. Chicago's Bears now lead the west section with six wins, one tie and one defeat, and are heavy favorites to clinch the right to meet the winner of the eastern title for the championship. New York has won six games, lost two and tied one, and the runnerup, Washington, probably will have hard going against the Packers next Sunday.

Washington clung to its title hopes by defeating the hapless Cleveland Rams, 16 to 7. Detroit registered a 16 to 7 win over the Chicago Cardinals, with Ed Klewicki scoring a touchdown after recovering a Cardinal fumble and Bill Shepherd tallying on a pass interception.

Brooklyn's Dodgers whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 23 to 0, scoring all points in the last half.

Missouri, 3-0 victor over Washington university (St. Louis), plays U. C. L. A. Saturday. Michigan State meets San Francisco on Thursday. In addition to the Loyola-Villanova tussle on Sunday, undefeated Santa Clara plays its final game against Gonzaga.

Last week's Pacific Coast conference competition was marked by Washington State's 7-0 victory over Oregon State and Washington's 14-0 defeat of Oregon.

The British Empire consists of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Channel Islands and Isle of Man, the Irish Free State, India, and the numerous British dominions, colonies, protectorates, and dependencies.

"Zup" Too Busy
New York, Nov. 22—(AP)—Robert C. Zupke, University of Illinois football coach who is an artist on the side, was too busy today with "spinners" and "double wingbacks" to come to New York for a show of his paintings.

Twenty-five landscapes painted during vacations went on display in a gallery here. His favorite subjects—forests, deserts, fountains and the open sea.

Three Dixon Grid Stars Candidates For All-State Team

Gerald Ankeny, Earl Page and John Jensen, were Dixon's candidates today for all-state high school football team honors.

The selections will be made by Rocky Wolfe, publicity director of the Chicago Bears, in the near future. Ankeny received honorable mention on Wolfe's all-state team in 1936 by virtue of his consistent all-around performance including his stellar work in the game with Rockford which Dixon won 12 to 7. Ankeny has just rounded out his third year of varsity football. He weighs 180 pounds and is 17 years old and stands six feet in height. He can run, pass and kick.

Page scintillated for the Purple at end this year. He is 17 and this is his first year at varsity football. He weighs about 155 and stands over six feet tall. He snagged passes when first downs were badly needed.

In John Jensen the locals have a giant halfback who stands over six feet tall and weighs 170 lbs. His long strides while running with the ball remind fans of the "Shires" Miller on the 1936 undefeated team that won nine straight games for Dixon. He starred in the game with Sterling this year and was instrumental in helping Dixon overcome a 6-0 lead to gain a 6 to 6 tie with Sterling's inspired eleven.

LITTLE 19 ENDS ITS GRID SEASON AND EXISTENCE

Illinois College's Blue Boys Seize Championship

Chicago, Nov. 22—(AP)—Frozen gridirons were forgotten for warming celebrations at Illinois college today.

But while the Blue Boys nestled under the radiant coverlets of their first Illinois Intercollegiate Conference football championship in 22 years, Bradley Tech girded itself for a final effort calculated to bring a share of the title feather-bedding.

Bradley must defeat its traditional enemy from Illinois Wesleyan a Thanksgiving Day to achieve a co-championship. Unbeaten in four conference games, the Indians need Thursday's game to equal the standing of Illinois college, which won its fifth straight triumph at the expense of McKendree Saturday, 32-3.

The game marks the official close of the conference season and of the present 21-school organization, since 10 of the teams have announced their withdrawals to form a separate league. All other members, with the exception of Shurtleff, which will face Rose Poly of Terre Haute Thursday, ended their seasons last week.

Bradley Crushes Millikin

To remain in the title running, Bradley rode over a weak Millikin eleven Saturday, 27-0. Illinois college breezed through a last half against McKendree after establishing a quick 26-0 advantage, but State Normal met stiffer opposition before gaining a 12-6 decision over Elmhurst. Victory clinched third place honors for the Red Birds. It was Normal's fourth win against no defeats and two ties and permitted it to complete its best season in two decades.

Monmouth battled Knox to a scoreless tie, the third in a row for the Scots, who shared deadlock honors for the season with North Central, which also had three.

Augustana converted a fumble and a blocked kick into a 14-6 victory over Carthage, while Northern Teachers made one touchdown stand up to defeat Southern Teachers, 7-0. In the two non-conference games, St. Viator turned on an aerial offensive that submerged Columbia of Dubuque, Ia., 20-0 in a night indoor game played at Chicago. Shurtleff could not muster the same punch and lost to Moberly, Mo., 12-0.

PRETENDER TO FRENCH THRONE PLANS RETURN

Exiled Duke Decides To Reconquer Throne Of His Father's

Paris, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Duc de Guise, pretender to the throne of France, issued a manifesto distributed in Paris today announcing that he had decided to "reconquer the throne of my fathers."

The 5,000-worded manifesto left no doubt that the pretender, now living in exile in Belgium, planned a pacific conquest. It caused intense excitement among French royalists.

The manifesto was distributed as government agents ferreted out what appeared to be a plot to overthrow the republic.

The pretender's statement was in direct contrast to his last message to the nation when he told them, in February, 1933, "dictatorship under a monarchy" was necessary.

"Have the moral courage not to abdicate before present difficulties," today's manifesto appealed to Frenchmen. "Do not permit, in a moment of abandon, dictatorship of any kind to impose itself."

"Will Find Peace"

"Certain of my ability to assure you happiness, I have decided to reconquer the throne of my fathers. France then again will resume her mission in the world and again will find peace, unity and prosperity through a union of the people with a titular defender-king."

The pretender's statement condemned Communism, Fascism and the French parliamentary system. It said the only solution was a monarchy, under which the government would be decentralized and many powers would be returned to the provinces. It advocated industrial organizations composed of employers and workers.

The duke urged creation of "assemblies of regional interests" whose members would be elected by universal suffrage. Such assemblies would be united under a national assembly similarly elected.

Hold Investigation

Police announced meanwhile they were holding for investigation, Edmond Volle, a contractor who, they said, built an arms cache at a villa near Noisy-Le-Sec where raiders found guns and ammunition Saturday. The police said materials used in constructing the cache were identical with supplies in Volle's workyard.

Volle denied any connection with "Les Casagoules" ("Hooded Ones"), or any other group of "plotters." Raids growing out of the government's investigation of the organization have uncovered enough stores of arms to equip a small army.

THANKSGIVING TRIP CANCELLED BY ROOSEVELT

Condition Not Deemed Healthy Enough For Southern Trip

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, on the advice of his physician and dentist, cancelled today his Thanksgiving trip to Warm Springs, Ga., but made plans to go there and to the Florida coast on a fishing trip when he regains his strength.

Stephen T. Early, a White House secretary, said the President probably would leave for Miami the latter part of this week, or early next, for four or five days of rest and then go to Warm Springs for a belated dinner with the infantile paralysis patients at the foundation there.

Early said Captain Ross T. McIntire, the President's naval physician, and Lieutenant Commander Arthur H. Yando, naval dentist, both felt their patient would be making a mistake to leave Wednesday for the south as originally planned.

The President's general condition was good and temperature normal, Early said, but that the abscessed gum still needed treatment.

Drainage from the gum, he added, was being absorbed in the body, rendering slow the President's recovery of his strength.

Early said there were two pockets where the tooth was taken out, but one healed and was not draining.

Industrial Cage League Meeting Tomorrow Night

Managers or sponsors of last year's Industrial basketball league teams, and any new managers or sponsors planning to enter teams in a league this winter are reminded to meet at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday at Dixon high school.

Teams that will probably be represented at the meeting include a team from Sterling, Beiers, Knacks, Ashton and Rink's. The Reynolds Wire Co. is also planning on entering a team in the league this winter.

Strikes

Fisher Body and Good-year Workers End Their Idleness

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Strikers who had held the General Motors Fisher body plant here since Wednesday evening marched out at 10:30 a. m., CST, today, led by Homer Martin, international president.

Martin, who entered the plant at 9 a. m., CST, said when he emerged that the strikers had voted unanimously to evacuate the plant. He said the company would be notified at once that the men had left and that he would attempt to open negotiations on grievances which caused the strike.

The strike which began without warning Wednesday when a few hundred members of the night shift refused to work because the company insisted upon the suspension of four men whom it blamed for a previous unauthorized strike, ended just as unexpectedly.

The men had refused to heed appeals of the International officers and of the international executive board, which was summoned into emergency session yesterday by Martin.

The international president was reported to have told the men that their strike "jeopardized the very life of the union."

He declined to say whether he had promised the strikers the union would fight for the retention of their jobs and for the reinstatement of four men whose suspension the company demanded for alleged leadership in a previous unauthorized strike.

Speaking last night at a closed meeting of 1,300 union members, Martin was heard by persons outside the meeting hall to say:

"This is not the time nor the place to call a strike. General Motors has chosen this time and place for the strike but we don't want General Motors to call our strikes. We want to call them at the right time and place."

STRIKE SETTLED

Akron, O., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Workers went back to their jobs at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plant today following settlement of a three day strike which halted operations and made 12,000 employees idle.

Members of the United Rubber Workers of America voted at a Sunday mass meeting to accept the company's proposals.

Union counsel prepared today to file charges of intimidation against Gov. Martin L. Davey in a complaint to the national labor relations board.

Stanley Delinger, general counsel, announced that Goodyear local No. 2 voted unanimously to take action against Gov. Davey for alleged intimidation "in furtherance of his own selfish personal political ambitions."

Governor Davey ordered 2,000 national guard troops on notice for possible action Friday after the strike started with a sit-down strike Thursday night. Union leaders soon led the sit-down strikers out of the big rubber plants but Governor Davey kept the troops on notice continuing today.

The strike was a spontaneous outburst, without union sanction, in protest against extensive layoffs. Principal points in the settlement included:

1. There will be no further layoffs in the tire and tube divisions beyond the present program (that is, beyond the 1,642 workers whose layoff caused the sit-down).
2. All layoffs will be made on a strict seniority basis in departments affected.

BANKERS REGRET COMPETITION OF POST OFFICES

Describe the Government Lending Agencies As Rivals Also

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 22.—(AP)—

J. F. Schmidt, president of the Illinois Bankers Association, today described government lending agencies and the postal savings system as in competition with private banking and warned of centralization of power and branch banking.

He spoke at the opening session of the third annual conference on banking at the University of Illinois.

"Keen competition and the various government lending agencies have deprived the banks of a great volume of loans and the funds of the banks have been largely placed in securities," he said.

"There are now serious threats against the present banking structure of the entire nation x x x the general movement in Washington seems to be toward a unification of the banking system. This means more centralization of power. Government ownership of the Federal reserve banks is part of the pattern bill."

Toward Unification

"This is, without doubt, the first step toward unification of banking, and will, eventually do away with our dual system of independent unit banking. Branch banking is favored by those who seem to forget that our forefathers bled and died for liberty."

Schmidt, vice president of the State Bank of Waterloo, urged elimination of the double liability on bank stockholders, warning its continuance would "drive state banks either out of business or into the national system."

Dr. Edwin M. Kemmerer of Princeton University, called an "international money doctor," was to address the conference tonight. Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal deposit insurance corporation, was scheduled to speak tomorrow morning.

Half City Block Of Iowa Town Is Razed By Flames

Mason City, Ia., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Chilled firemen today poured a solitary stream of water on the ruins of half a Mason City business block, swept by flames in sub-zero temperatures, with a loss placed at $150,000.

The blaze, believed to have started at 5 A. M. yesterday in the kitchen of the Olympia Cafe, gutted that building, swept to the Currie Van Ness hardware building, stocked for the holiday trade, and destroyed that. Five other buildings were damaged.

Dr. W. E. Long, 65, former Cerro Gordo county state representative, was in a critical condition today from a stroke suffered in the excitement and exposure while watching the fire fighters.

DIETERICH IS MENTIONED FOR JUD GESHIP NOW

Associate Judgeship Is Opened By Death of Graham

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Capitol observers have been mentioning the name of Senator William H. Dieterich of Illinois in connection with a judgeship in the court of customs and patents appeal left vacant by the death of William Johnson Graham, an Illinois Republican.

President Roosevelt has elevated Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee to Graham's old position as presiding judge, leaving an associate judgeship open.

Illinoisans in Washington wondered if President Roosevelt might terminate the differences between Governor Henry Horner of Illinois and Dieterich, whose term expires next year, by appointing Dieterich to the judgeship.

May Solve Problem

Dieterich has had nothing to say regarding published reports he might be appointed to some federal office. He also has declined to say whether he would be a candidate for re-election. He has promised to make a statement at the end of the present congressional session.

The vacant judgeship in the court of Customs and Patents Appeals might help Illinois Democratic leaders solve the problem relating to a judgeship in the seventh circuit court of appeals. There are several candidates for the latter, supported by different factions. If Illinois were given the customs and patents judgeship (and Senator J. Hamilton Lewis says he'll try to see that it does go to Illinois) the patronage dispensers would have two chances, instead of one, to satisfy all.

The judges of the court of customs and patents appeal receive $12,500 a year salary, the same as the judges of the circuit court. A senator receives $10,000.

Public Building Construction In State Underway

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A treasury report showed today that the federal government has a $5,272,500 public building construction program under way in Illinois.

In addition the treasury plans to spend approximately $2,302,500 on other federal buildings in the state. These projects are not yet under contract, but sites are being considered or have been selected. Specifications are being studied and in some instances bids have been sought.

The money for the building, mostly postoffices and court houses, was appropriated under three acts of Congress. The 1935 act made $60,000,000 available for all the states, the 1936 act $60,000,000 and the act of Aug. 25, 1937, $70,000,000.

Among the large projects listed in the report were the Chicago postoffice garage, $1,860,000, and the Chicago court of appeals building, $598,500, both under contract. Largest among the downtown projects was the Peoria postoffice and court house, $1,000,000.

More than $170,000,000 is spent annually by the forty-eight states for the upkeep of primary highways.

Anybody who knows noses knows the identity of the two shown in this photo study. They are, so to speak, the two most notorious noses in Hollywood—John Barrymore's, right, and W. C. Fields', in case you didn't know. Taken in fun, this picture intrigued studio moguls, who decided to cast the two in a $2,000,000 film.

SEGNER HINTS FIGHTING CASE IN HIGH COURT

Trying To Get Payment Of Claims From Lee Supervisors

Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, Lee county coroner has indicated that his action in the circuit court against the board of supervisors to secure the payment of claims filed by him against the county, will be taken to the supreme court if necessary. Last week Coroner Segner sent communications to all coroners in Illinois, urging the organization of the coroners of the state to bring about the accomplishment of what he terms much needed changes in the present law.

"Other county officials have organizations that are state wide, to which they submit their problems and difficulties and by so doing, obtain legislation which is desired to overcome these differences and the coroners of Illinois should have a similar organization," Dr. Segner stated.

"I have addressed letters to the other coroners of the state inviting their expressions of differences they may have with their respective county boards. I hope to learn by answers from these inquiries, whether conditions similar to those in Lee county exist in other counties of the state, and to further suggest an organization of coroners. With such an organization I believe that proper legislation could be enacted to eliminate any future difficulties between boards of supervisors or county commissions and the coroner's office."

Coroner Segner also addressed communications to all physicians and morticians in Lee county, enclosing a copy of the state law pertaining to the duties of the coroner and calling attention to instances where the coroner must be called to investigate accidental deaths.

ANNUAL BIG TEN ALL-STAR TEAM CHOICES NAMED

Three Gophers, Th Ohio State Stars are Nominated

Chicago, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The 1937 Big Ten all star gridiron array, selected by the coaches for the Associated Press, lines up today with three stalwarts from Minnesota's championship, a trio from Ohio State, two from Purdue, and one each from Indiana, Northwestern and Iowa in the mythical battle front.

After voting battles as close, at most positions, as the scores which decided the championship season's big struggles, two members of last year's all star "varsity", halfbacks Don Heap of Northwestern, and Purdue's Cecil Isbell, again made places on the team. Injuries were largely responsible for three others, sensational Andy Gram of Minnesota, and Northwestern's great defensive pair, quarterback Fred Vanzo and end John Kovatch, yielding their positions.

Rugged Jim McDonald of Ohio State, his brilliance undimmed by a shift from a ball-carrying assignment to blocking drudgery, succeeded Vanzo at quarter. Isbell, last year's honors fullback, moved to Gram's halfback position, and C. J. Davis, Indiana's 200-pound powerhouse, key-man of the Hoosier offense, earned Isbell's 1936 post.

Ray King's Nominated

The coaches liked one whole side of Minnesota's line, naming rangy Ray King, a second team man a year ago; Lou Midler and Francis Twedwell to end, tackle and guard jobs, respectively.

Bob Lannon of Iowa outpointed Chicago's versatile Bob Fitzgerald and Fred Benz of Wisconsin in a hot contest for the end post accorded Kovatch last year. Purdue's Marty Schreyer won the other tackle place.

The remaining line jobs went to Ohio State huskies by margins of a single point over Indiana stars Ralph Wolf, the Buckeyes' center beat out George (Sparky) Miller, Indiana's ace place-kicking pivotman, and Gust Zarnas nipped Jim Sirotsky for the other honor assignment at guard.

There were no unanimous choices, but King and Davis came as close as possible, each receiving nine first team votes, and one second ballot.

WALGREEN NETS
$1.87 PER SHARE
IN FISCAL YEAR

Business of Big Drug Company Increased; Expenses Mounted

The Walgreen company has reported net income of $2,755,822 for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, slightly smaller than the $2,784,903 net income of the preceding year. The company did a larger gross business in the 1937 fiscal period, reporting total sales of $67,890,138 against $61,783,953 in the preceding year.

Credits arising out of the company's recent changes in capitalization eliminated any liability for the company under the undistributed earnings tax. The company redeemed its old preferred stock, issued new stock bearing a lower dividend rate and distributed a 50 per cent common stock dividend during the year.

Earnings $1.87 a Share

After providing for preferred dividends the 1937 net income was equal to $1.87 a share on the 1,292,791 shares of common stock now outstanding. The 1936 net income amounted to $3.04 a share on the 828,961 common shares then outstanding.

Charles R. Walgreen, of Dixon and Chicago, president, said that the company incurred unusual expense during the year in remodeling and equipping many of the older stores for air conditioning.

"This was costly to current operations, but I am convinced will be productive," he said. "While we shall continue a certain amount of expansion and betterment, we aim to concentrate upon pushing to the maximum point the benefits which are materializing from recent expenditures. Another sixty days from now will see our development substantially complete and we shall be relieved of most of the heavy costs of development."

Although the general business outlook is obscure, the company's sales are holding up well, Walgreen said.

RYE PLANTED IN 1935

Valentine, Neb.—(AP)—It may take time to raise a crop on the Pine Ridge reservation, but it can be done.

Henry Krauss planted some rye in 1935, but hail beat it to the ground before it got a good start. It was so dry in 1936 it failed to sprout.

This year it finally made the grade. Krauss reported a yield of about seven bushels per acre.

THAT'S THE ONLY WAY TO STAY SAFE ON THE ROAD IS TO DRIVE RESPONSIBLY. DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE. DON'T DRIVE WHILE TALKING TO A FRIEND. DON'T DRIVE WHILE THINKING OF A GIRL. DON'T DRIVE WHILE TRYING TO BE A HERO. DON'T DRIVE WHILE BEING A DUFFY DRIVER.

YEAH, PIG-HEARTED!

DESPICABLE PRACTICE
By their works ye shall know them. The road-hog cuts a wide swath all right and takes in much more territory than the law and rules of courtesy permit. But just remember, it's dangerous to dispute his right to your part of the road. He just takes the whole street and lets other drivers take what they can get. He's despicable, selfish boor. It's hard to pierce his cloak of egotism and about the only line of talk that gets down beneath his thick skin is when the traffic judge looks at him and growls: "30 days!"

In early days in America, paper promissory notes drawn on "the faith of the United States" were known as continentals. A suit of clothes required the expenditure of $82,500 worth of the continentals at one time.

The greatest fingerprint file in America is that at Washington, D. C. Started in 1924 by J. Edgar Hoover, it has as its nucleus, fingerprints taken from federal prisoners the pine.

Mr. and Mrs. Petry will hold open house to receive their friends in the afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4. They will also receive callers in the evening from 7 to 9. Mr. and Mrs. Petry were married on November 24, 1887. They lived on a farm near DeKalb for four years. Then they purchased a farm six miles northeast of Rochelle, where they lived for 25 years. Upon their retirement about twenty years ago they moved to Rochelle and have lived here continuously since that time.

Both are enjoying the best of health for their age and look forward to many more happy years together. They have two daughters, Mrs. Irvin Gillis and Mrs. Howard Ritchie and one son, Clarence, who resides on the old farm. Eight grandchildren complete the family circle.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Hilda Croson, daughter of Mrs. Henry Menz, to Henry Emerson, of St. Petersburg, Fla. The wedding was a quiet family affair and was solemnized on Thursday evening of last week at eight o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson will make their home in St. Petersburg, where Mr. Emerson is connected with the Mather Furniture Co.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ROBERT BARRY—hero, explorer.
MELISSA LANE—heroine, Barry's partner.
HONEY BEE GIRL—Indian; member of Barry's party.
HADES JONES—pioneer; member Barry's party.

Yesterday, Melissa develops a decided liking for her young partner. And Bob gets the second surprise of his expedition—the cook he had hired sight unseen also turns out to be a woman. He now has a new problem on his hands.

CHAPTER IV
ZACHARY "HADES" JONES came to life first. While the other three in his party still stared, he barked.
"A squaw! Looky thar, it's a squaw!"

The whole party laughed then, and Bob was quick to apologize. "Oh, I'm sorry, uh—Honey—what'd you say your name is? Honey Bee? We were not laughing at you, but at ourselves. You see, we expected a male cook, a man."

"I cook three white man's food," she repeated. "I cook it better than three white man's woman." "Sure, sure, come on tonight anyway, Honey Bee, and cook supper and breakfast for us. We'll still be skirting the Indian country, and you can ride home tomorrow and send us a man. I'll pay you. It's all right."

The supper that night turned out to be perfect. With scant utensils, an outdoor fire, and a limited stock of supplies, Honey Bee quickly fed them generously and well. She even found time to disappear up a canyon over a stream, and there pick a quantity of the odd plant called miner's lettuce, an unexpectedly delicious salad which she dressed with the rich brown juice of fried ham. It touched the men's appetites greatly.

"Nothin' but a Indian coulda done that," approved Holliman, picking his teeth, but Hades Jones snorted.

THAT first night was uneventful. Lissa slept soundly, despite her saddle soreness, and the party was moving again at dawn. Cactus and brush forced them to ride single file most of this day, so that, relatively, conversation was impossible, but interest heightened when they finally made camp within sight of their goal. They were near the foot of the great Castle cliff. It loomed impressively in the sunset glow.

After supper, Bob studied the impatient night he had evolved a new plan. It excited him so that he arose before anybody else, and with him left camp before anyone else stirred. Some cold food did them for breakfast.

"I have a hunch I can make a preliminary exploration this morning, Holliman," the young scientist beamed. "Let's take a long rope—say 300 feet of the one-inch stuff—and ride around to the top of this cliff."

Holliman looked at his boss. "What you gonna do?" he demanded.

"Never mind now. Maybe nothing. Let's see if we can get to the top of that cliff."

They could, by riding two miles south and cutting back and up on a zigzag, rocky course, then climbing through more rocks to the mesa top. They were three hours at it.

"Ought to be easy," Bob began.

After supper, Bob studied the Castle, although he could see but little in the twilight. "It's about 600 feet, straight up," he told Mary Melissa. "No, not quite straight up, but nearly so. And you'll note the cliff cap above has a slight overhang. Centuries of erosion have cut back the softer under strata, where the castle stands."

"Why is it called Defiance, Dr. Barry?"

"Because it has defied all efforts to explore it, and probably was impregnable as a fort when occupied. One archaeologist, from the State University, did manage to climb part way up, chiseling toe holds and using ropes. But even he slipped on the down trip and broke his leg. And until now nobody has appropriated money for a real effort at it."

Mary Melissa stared intently upward. Fast dying shadows of day seemed to create life in the old ruin.

"Looks ghostly," she ventured. "It is. There's a wealth of legend about the place, Miss Lane. Many good yarns; some fact, maybe. These dwellings were abandoned before Columbus sailed. We don't know why."

"Goodness!" breathed the white girl. "It's fascinating."

"Maybe the Indians drove them away. But where?"

"Can't say. There are Indian legends about it too, but they don't help much."

Next dawn found Bob Barry impatient to visit Defiance Castle. During the night he had evolved a new plan. It excited him so that he arose before anybody else, and with him left camp before anyone else stirred. Some cold food did them for breakfast.

"I have a hunch I can make a preliminary exploration this morning, Holliman," the young scientist beamed. "Let's take a long rope—say 300 feet of the one-inch stuff—and ride around to the top of this cliff."
